Suggestions / Feedback Analysis

The responses indicate overall positive feedback on the curriculum, syllabus design, autonomy, and the department's organization. Key suggestions and observations include:

1. One faculty member may be nominated as the placement in-charge to strengthen placement activities.
2. Apprenticeship opportunities before course completion may enhance practical exposure and employability.
3. Some respondents expressed that no further suggestions are required.
4. The department was appreciated for effectively utilizing autonomy to address local and employment needs.
5. The syllabus was appreciated for being updated regularly to meet emerging societal and student requirements.
6. The course structure and syllabus were considered skill-oriented and beneficial for student development.
7. The organisation and implementation of academic activities received positive remarks such as "Very Good," "Good," and "Excellent Organisation."
8. A suggestion was made to prepare and approve the syllabus for the entire admitted batch during BOS meetings rather than revising it academic year-wise.
